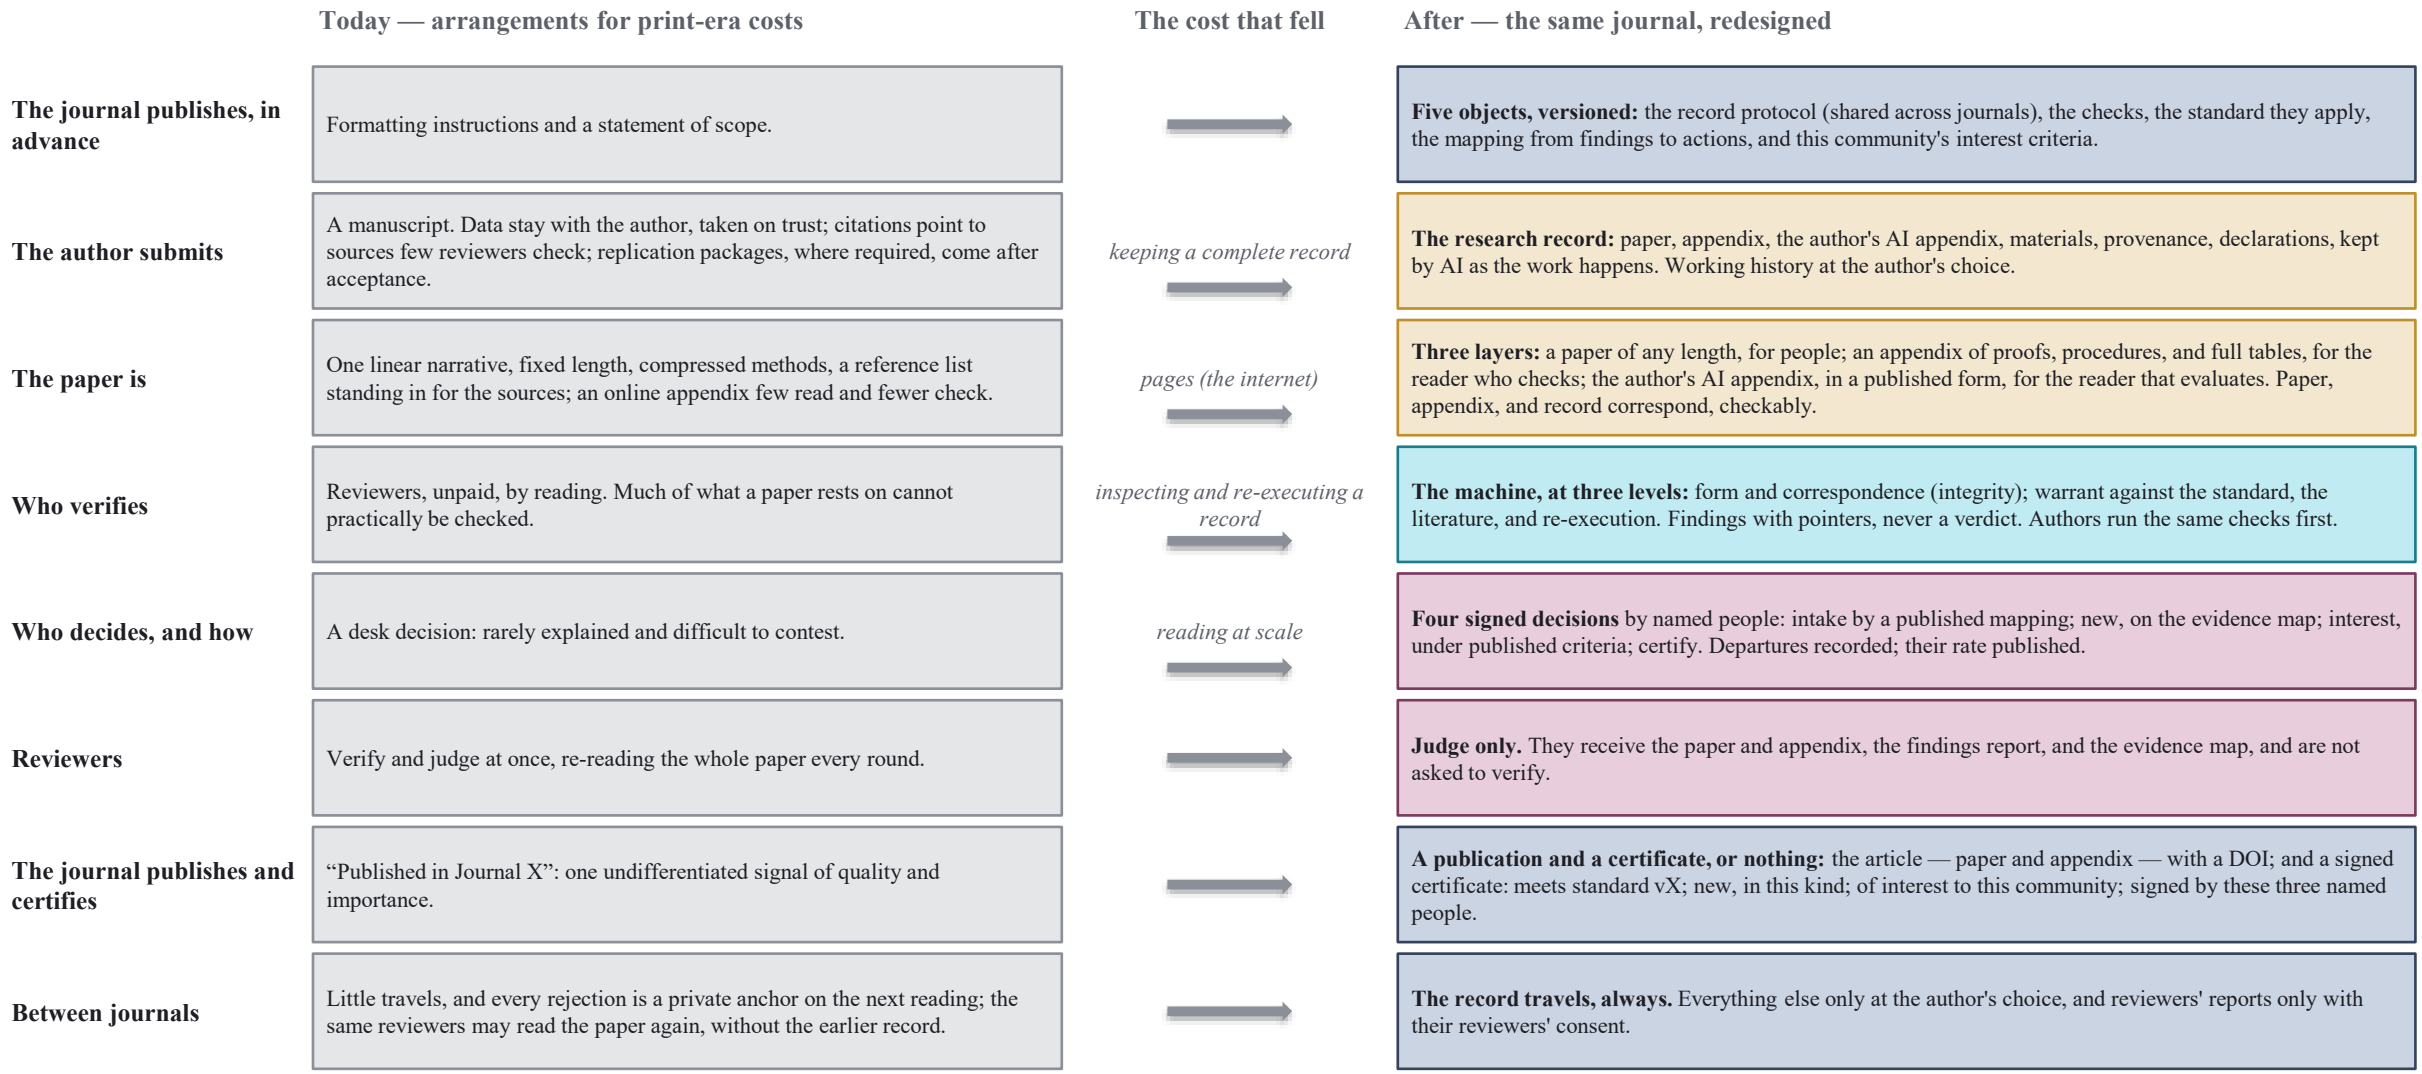

Fig. 1 - The journal, before and after

The same institution, with the print-era arrangements replaced by arrangements for a world in which keeping, inspecting, and reading records at scale are cheap.

What does not change: the author works however they like; what a community finds interesting is decided by its members; people read the paper.

Journal · Author + AI · Machine · Named people